

To whom it may Concern,

I am writing this letter to say the most effective way to fed eggs ~~glumpnepla~~ would be to put a stop to forced molting. Recent research including a study conducted by US government scientists shows forced molting increases frequency and severity of Salmonella Enteritidis among hens. Approximately 195 million hens must endure bizarre torture called forced molting. This process throws the hens systems into collapse, stressing and shocking their worn out bodies to produce one more batch before the slaughter. The stress weakens their immune systems so badly they are even more prone to disease and salmonella infections.

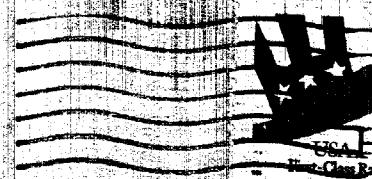

Forced molting causes needless further suffering to the hens and increases the threat of illness for consumers of hen products. Please put a stop to this. Thank you for your time.
